As an artist, my practice is rooted in the exploration of digital media, artificial intelligence, and the intersection of technology and art. I graduated from the School of the Art Institute of Chicago, where I honed my skills in a range of mediums including digital, AI, NFTs, as well as traditional mediums such as gouache, acrylic, and oil paint. My work is an exploration of the ways in which technology is shaping our understanding of the world and our place within it. Through my art, I aim to question the nature of reality, and the relationship between the digital and the physical. I strive to create thought-provoking, visually striking pieces that challenge viewers to consider their own perceptions and understanding of the world around them.
